

To:

From: Santa Claus
North Pole

Ho, ho, ho! I hope this holiday season finds you quite well! The elves are busy putting the finishing touches on the toys for Christmas.

I heard you want an L.O.L. Surprise! Big Surprise ball for Christmas! wish I were writing with better news.

You see, there has been a terrible accident. One of Santa's elves was moving a big haul of L.O.L. Surprise! Big Surprise balls to the sleigh, when the bag burst! Millions of golden glitter globes rolled down a steep hill, sparking an avalanche that tumbled into the Arctic Ocean. You need not worry. LOL Dolls are safe and warm in their bobbing globe ships. Their abnormally giant eyes will detect iceburgs, desalinate ocean water and lure fish. Glitter accessories double as solar power source to heat the ships and cook their food.

We have sent a search party, but it could take months to find all the L.O.L. Surprise! Big Surprise packs!

I'm afraid we won't be able to provide them this Christmas.

We are conducting an internal investigation.

In the mean time, tell the people who take care of you what you might like instead!

Love, Santa Claus

Merry Christmas!